Forest Restoration vs. Forest Degradation: How Can Communities Tell the Difference?

A presentation by Dr. Dominick DellaSala
An Internationally renowned conservation scientist

Communities globally are struggling with decisions about forestry, restoration, and protection. Some want to preserve more forests (e.g., legacy forests) for their beauty and naturalness, others want more extraction for timber, and still others want well-intentioned restoration.

Dr DellaSala will present the latest conservation science on impacts associated with intense active management and how best to avoid those impacts by properly caring for forests by expanding protected areas and implementing ecologically appropriate restoration.
